Dewey Says He Will Expose Lynch as Big Money Servant

Undecided Bloc
May Rule Voting
Governor Will Give Broadcast Tonight; Declines to Elaborate

By HARRY O'DONNELL

In route with Dewey, Oct. 31 (UPI)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey said today he would "expose" Rep. Walter A. Lynch tonight as "the kept servant of big money interests."

Dewey asserted his Democratic opponent for governor "has been acting like a desperate man with something to hide," and added:

"I am now in a position to reveal what it is he wants to conceal from the public."

In a statement released in New York city before he took off on a one-day upstate campaign flight, Dewey said he would "give the startling facts to the people" in a statewide (CBS) broadcast from Schenectady (6:15 p.m., EST).

"I shall expose him as a Wall Street lawyer who is the kept servant of big money interests," the governor said.

He declined to elaborate.

Throws Up Smokescreen

Dewey charged, however, that "throughout the campaign, the Flynn-Tammany candidate for governor has been throwing up a smokescreen of smear, vilification and abuse."

In the scorching race, bitterest in recent New York state political history, each gubernatorial nominee has tried to pin the "Wall Street" tag on the other. Lynch had repeatedly claimed that Wall Street bankers led by Chase Bank President Winthrop W. Aldrich "dictated" Dewey's decision to seek a third term after he had announced June 17 he would not run again.

Dewey flew upstate to urge the voters not to turn the state government over to Democratic Leader Edward J. Flynn of the Bronx and Gambler Frank Costello.

Pleads for Vote

Dewey pleaded for a "vote of confidence" in his administration which, he says, has built at Albany "the most beautiful structure of government service in the country."

"It would be utterly destroyed," he contends, if Rep. Walter A. Lynch and the rest of the Democratic state ticket are elected next Tuesday.

Dewey interrupted intensive campaigning in New York city for a one-day, flying trip to Troy, Catskill Falls, Hudson Falls and Schenectady.

At Troy this morning, Dewey attended the funeral of Mayor John J. Ahern, who died Saturday. For his final upstate campaign appearances, Dewey reloaded for more of the same fire he turned on the Democrats last night in New York city.

Says Lynch Ran Away

Dewey scornfully denounced Congressman Lynch as "this Flynn-Tammany-Costello man" and charged that Lynch ran away from a face-to-face debate with him "like a scared rabbit."

He said Lynch, the Democratic-Liberal candidate for governor had "no guts" and had failed to repeat to Dewey's face the "dirty names" and reckless charges he has been "shouting over the radio."

Dewey referred to what he called Lynch's refusal to participate in a question-and-answer session with him on a television show last Sunday. The rival candidates appeared separately on the same program.

Dewey again charged that Lynch and the other Democratic state candidates were handicapped for command of the North Atlantic defense pact military forces.

"No," replied Dewey, "It would simply broaden his experience and increase his qualifications. If that were possible, I think it would be no means make him unavailable."

John Boettiger Is Suicide In Seven-Story Hotel Leap

New York, Oct. 31 (UPI)—John Boettiger, former son-in-law of President Roosevelt, leaped to his death early today from his seventh-floor hotel suite.

The 50-year-old newspaperman, who married the late president's only daughter, Anna, in 1935 after a White House romance, dodged past a male nurse and jumped through an open window at 6:30 a.m. EST.

Associates said Boettiger had been mentally depressed recently, and four days ago took an overdose of sleeping pills.

After his divorce in August, 1949, from the president's daughter, he was remarried. He left two notes, one of them illegible, the other addressed to his present wife. It said:

"Good night, darling, we love you."

Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, now living in California, charged desertion in her divorce from Boettiger. The two had worked as a team in publishing newspapers in Seattle and in Phoenix, Ariz.

Custody of their only child, John Boettiger, Jr., was awarded to her. She has two other children, Eleanor "Sister" and Curtis "Buzze" Dall by a former marriage to New York investment banker Curtis Dall.

Dewey referred to what he called Lynch's refusal to participate in a question-and-answer session with him on a television show last Sunday. The rival candidates appeared separately on the same program.

Red Resistance Increases Against Force of 100,000

Food Might Hit Record Peak in '51

Prices Could Surpass Record Level of 1948 Because of Demand, Is View

Factors Are Cited

Employment, Social Security Increase Are Contributory

Washington, Oct. 31 (UPI)—Higher food prices—maybe the highest ever—are in prospect for next year, the Agriculture Department said today.

The department predicted that food prices, which have risen through most of 1950 with a fairly sharp upturn after the outbreak of war in Korea, probably will not go up much more before late winter.

But in a report on the national food situation the department urged "reinforced pressure" on prices in the spring and declared:

"Accelerated consumer demand for food, unless checked by anti-inflationary measures or other developments, could push food prices by mid-year up to and even above the record level of the summer of 1948."

While food supplies somewhat larger than this year's are expected, the department said the increase likely will be insufficient to keep pace with greater consumer demand for food.

Given Factors Involved

Several factors will contribute to this increased demand, the department said. It gave this explanation:

"The rise in employment, hours worked and hourly wages will increase consumer incomes. Increases in consumer incomes may be only partly offset by higher taxes and other anti-inflationary measures. Larger social security benefits will permit increased food consumption by many individuals. Probable reductions in output of consumer purchasing power for food."

The department, which has said consistently that it sees no need at present for price controls on farm commodities, acknowledged that prices may rise to the point where controls "could be established" under the law on meats and food fats and oils, possibly with the exception of butter.

Chief Raymond Van Buren of the police department and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy suggested today that the menace of burning leaves in the city tonight could be lessened through the wetting of piles of leaves on or near local properties.

The officials indicated that despite extensive efforts to curtail mischievous throughout the city, some situations will represent temptations to pranksters, and local residents will assist by wetting the leaves and being generally watchful of their own properties.

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren last week advised all of the city's youth to participate in the parade and program at the municipal auditorium, and he said today that the department will extend every effort to prevent destruction of property.

Five patrol cars will be active during the night and some members of the department will work extra hours to handle traffic as the children parade and to patrol all areas of the city.

Red Korean Says 2 Sino Units Used

MacArthur Aide Says No Definite Proof Found of Organized Chinese Help

Communists Tell How They Were Rushed Into Battle

Seoul, Oct. 31 (UPI)—Ally forces fought today against time and mountain Red resistance. A powerful United Nations army of 100,000 men switched across the snowy North Korean peninsula in forward areas, driving to end the war before winter's harsh blasts freeze the campaign into another year.

An armored column of the U. S. 21st Infantry Division seized the only impressive pass in a valley marked by bitter fighting on the barchan, 20-mile northern peninsula from below the Communist Manchurian border.

Chinese Communists were helping the North Koreans; how many no high-profile official would say. A captured Red Korean officer said two Chinese divisions were attacking in northeast Korea.

In Pohyon, an intelligence officer at General MacArthur's headquarters confirmed the capture of 10 Chinese Reds in North Korea but said the presence of organized Chinese units had not been established definitely.

Statement Awaited

He said headquarters is awaiting a positive statement from high-profile field commanders. The official acknowledged that the Korean Reds are getting help from somewhere, but added that it might be from North Korean "ghosts" who held in reserve during the fall of Pyongyang, the Red capital.

The continued appearance of tanks in these dwindling forces indicates the enemy is still fighting these supplies from across the Manchurian border, he said.

He had been behaved conspicuously that if Red China had intended to intervene in the Korean war it would have done so in September, when allied forces still were south of Parallel 38, dividing the peninsula.

Unconfirmed reports to Formosa, Chinese Nationalist island stronghold, on the Chinese Red 11th and 12th divisions of Red Gen. Lan Po-ku's Fourth Army Corps were uplifting in Korea. Nationalist officials said the reports probably were true.

Were Many Killers

AP Correspondent Ben Drieu reported that Chinese prisoners taken northwest of Hamhung told them they were rushed into battle a week ago without rifles, but each with two hand grenades.

The prisoners said they were former Nationalists who were put to turning by the Chinese Communists, and then rushed into the army and sent to defend North Korea against American invaders.

The city's recreation department has planned for a full night of fun and the police are prepared to act against vandalism and mischief.

Malik Launches Campaign Against Extension for Lie

Soviet Veto Has Stalled Lie's Reelection to New Term for 5 Years

New York, Oct. 31 (UPI)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik launched a campaign in the UN General Assembly today against a three-year extension of the term of Secretary-General Trygve Lie.

Lie left the rostrum as the debate on his future began.

Malik said the 160-nation assembly had no legal right to consider extending Lie's term as asked by the United States.

A Soviet veto in the Security Council has prevented Lie's relection to a new five-year term. In a series of meetings this month the council failed to agree on another candidate.

The United States insisted on Lie's retaining the $40,000 a year office, contending that to dump him now would amount to surrender to a Soviet move to punish the secretary-general for his support of the United Nations military action in Korea.

Before the Assembly was a resolution supported by the United States and 13 other countries to extend Lie's term for the three-year period after it expires next February 2.

The veto-free assembly was expected to extend Lie's term following the debate.

Senate Opens Its Probe of Charges

New York, Oct. 31 (AP)—U. S. Senate investigators have begun a secret probe here into charges that Lt. Gov. Joe R. Mantey was "paid off" to give up his quest of the governorship and run for U. S. senator instead.

The inquiry was started yesterday by aides of the Senate sub-committee on elections, headed by Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D-Iowa), Bruce C. Austin and Edward A. McDermott, special counsel for the sub-committee, looked into the matter here. Their activities were not revealed.

A committee spokesman said official announcement of the progress of the investigation would come later from Washington.

The left-wing American Labor Party had requested the investigation.

One of the inquiry is a letter the Republican lieutenant governor wrote to Rep. W. Kingsland Macy, Suffolk county Republican leader.

Cold Weather Predicted

Tokyo, Oct. 31 (AP)—Cold weather is predicted for United Nations troops in Korea next month. Royal Air Force weather experts forecast snow and ice with minimum temperatures as low as 11 degrees. The weathermen said the cold probably will continue through January.

Six Firemen Felled At Brooklyn Blaze

New York, Oct. 31 (AP)—Six firemen were knocked out by heavy smoke early today fighting a two-alarm ship fire at a Brooklyn pier.

The blaze in the No. 2 hold, reportedly started by sparks from a welding machine, flared up about 3:30 a. m. (E.S.T.) in a half-cargo of sisal, a fiber product, aboard the Argentine freighter Rio Agua-

The ship was tied up for repair at the Brooklyn yard of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Co.

The Rio Aguapec is a 7,604-ton Victory ship built in the U. S. in 1945 and now owned by the Argentine government. Her home port is Buenos Aires.

The fire was under control at 5 a. m. (E.S.T.). Damage was not estimated.

Asks More Emotion

Winnipeg (AP)—Canadian authors do not express enough emotion in their stories, says Mrs. Margaret Lee, herself a writer and secretary of the Manitoba branch of the Canadian Authors Association. Mrs. Lee, who writes under the pen-name Madge Ford, attributes this failing to a tendency toward the English style.

"Most Canadians sell their good manuscripts to American markets and they should write accordingly," she says.

Texas Women Make Big Offer

New York, Oct. 31 (AP)—Irwin Slater, 38-year-old lawyer, and Mrs. Bea Bernard, 44, were sentenced today to a year each in prison for operating a black market in babies. Both also were fined.

General Sessions Judge Francis L. Valente told Mrs. Bernard that he would suspend execution of the prison term in her case, if by Nov. 17, she paid the $2,500 fine assessed.

Slater was fined $1,500. He was sentenced on each of four counts. The sentences to be served concurrently. Mrs. Bernard was sentenced similarly on five counts.

The two were convicted last of operating an illegal traffic in babies between Florida and New York. The specific charge was unlawful placement of babies, and acceptance of payments for the infants.

A third defendant, Harry Woltson, 37, an attorney, was acquitted.

Controls May Last Longer Than in World War 2

Washington, Oct. 31 (AP)—The United States apparently clamped down last week on a big shipment of seemingly harmless petroleum jelly to Red China because it can be used in the making of fire bombs.

The shipment was being loaded aboard the freighter Flying Cloud.

Army officers told a reporter in the trade as petroleum, can be mixed with two other common ingredients to produce fire bombs like those used so effectively in World War II and the Korean fighting.

The substances used with the petroleum are aluminum napthalene and aluminum soap of coconuts fatty acids. The mixture produces the fire bomb charge.

Napthalene has proved a weapon of deadly effectiveness both against pillbox type of fortifications and against tanks.

Before the Commerce Department stopped the landing, the Flying Cloud was reported to have taken aboard 66 tons of petroleum at Baltimore and planned to take on 18,000 gallons more at Baltimore and 21,000 gallons at New York.

First Supplies Arrive

Saigon, Indo-China, Oct. 31 (AP)—The first supplies of American military aid have reached quiet sectors of North Indo-China's hotly-contested battle areas. This report, from Associated Press Correspondent Kenneth Like, coincided with an official announcement that French forces have withdrawn from Comon, a village north of Tienyen near the Chinese border. A French military spokesman said the withdrawal was not for much longer.

He described the present situation as a twilight zone by half peace and said "we must formulate programs and controls which can if necessary endure more years and yet which will leave our economy at the end of that time stable, productive and free."

Controls already brought into play are only just beginning to affect output of goods for civilians.

Word from the National Production Authority (NPA) is that cuts of 20 to 30 per cent in civilian use of copper, nickel and aluminum will probably be ordered within the next 10 days, effective Dec. 1.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 31 (AP)—Steel and rail stocks stepped in front of a generally firm market today. A light sprinkling of minus signs dotted the price list but gains were in a clear majority advances ranged to around $1 a share.

The market's stability followed a bad fall late yesterday when a sudden increase in selling hampered down leading issues a few cents to more than $2 share.

Interest in the stocks evidently reflected optimism over dividend action by U. S. Steel's board, scheduled to meet after the close of the market today. An increase or extra payment is widely expected.

Trading was moderately active although the ticker tape took frequent rests.

Armeo, which dived $2.75 a share to $43.50 yesterday when directors voted the usually dividend instead of an anticipated increase, rallied smartly. At one time the stocks advanced more than $1 a share.

HELLO

THE DICTIONARY defines the word "neighbor" as a person who lives near-by . . . "on neighborly or friendly terms." Doing business with a neighbor—or fellow townsman—is what most people prefer.

ON YOUR LIST of neighbors, who are personally interested in your welfare, is your local insurance agent. He respects the trust you have placed in him. Your friendship is as much to be gained and held as your business. Yes, because your agent is your neighbor, you can enjoy a feeling of confidence in your relationship with him.

Your insurance protection needs are his personal concern. Yours is not a name and address on his books—but that of a neighbor.

FOR OVER 100 YEARS, folks have been buying insurance from local agents. Far more insurance is purchased in this manner than in any other way.

To Check Loyalty Of Theatre Group

Applicants for membership in the newly-organized Coach House Players, Inc., of Kingston, are being asked whether they belong to the Communist party or other anti-U. S. organizations.

Directors of the recently formed little theatre group have announced the issuance of a new membership application form which, in addition to a number of other questions, asks "Are you now or have you ever been a member of, or affiliated with the Communist party or any organization directed by a foreign government advocating the overthrow of the United States government?"

Explaining the inclusion of this question, President Irving Rose made the following statement:

"Since the founders of our group and others who have generously assisted us in its organization are devoted to the idea of making the Coach House Theatre a center for the dramatic and other arts which will typify American principles of freedom and democracy, we are trying to start out with a clean slate as far as our active members are concerned. Unless a prospective member can qualify as a loyal American, we don't want him."

Brazil's Population

Rio De Janeiro (P.T.—Brazil) has been counting noses and it seems that they will run close to 50,000,000. The 1950 census count ended early in July but definite results will be known in a few more months. There is enough information on hand to estimate the country's population at over fifty million and to give first rank to Rio De Janeiro as the biggest city. The count for Rio is over 2,250,000. São Paulo grew amazingly but it is still number two with 2,300,000.

Recife, in northeastern Brazil, is third with a dash over half a million. Porto Alegre, in southern Rio Grande, is fourth with 372,000.

THE DEWEY ADMINISTRATION

Under a permanent Capital Construction Fund, formerly the Postwar Reconstruction Fund, the Dewey Administration has appropriated $801,639,000 for general construction in the state.

The original appropriations, 1944 to 1950 amounted to $679,132,000 and the appropriations for 1950-51 are $122,707,000. Of the original appropriations $356,096,000 has been expended, $140,111,000 has been committed under outstanding contracts and $182,925,000 remains uncommitted.

In spending this large amount of public money, the State Department of Public Works has the following record of accomplishment in the field of general construction:

Building construction is underway at Mental Hygiene hospitals that will provide for 5,000 additional beds and further construction projected for 1950 will add another 3,000 beds as well as innumerable necessary auxiliary structures and facilities. In the aggregate the immediate program amounts to approximately $90 million.

Additional improvements and added facilities underway or projected for construction this year at the State Correctional Institutions indicate a cost of more than $11,000,000.

Seventeen building projects are now in course of construction at State educational institutions. Additional facilities and buildings projected for 1950 will bring this expansion program to a cost of nearly $28,000,000.

Under the Dormitory Authority resident halls will provide for 3,660 students, all but one are complete or nearing completion at fifteen State Colleges and Institutes together with dining halls and social facilities at the eleven State Teacher Colleges. The cost of this program is approximately $15,000,000.

Twenty-five projects for buildings or auxiliary facilities are under construction or projected this year at eight State Health Institutions at a cost to approximate $12,000,000.

The Department of Public Works has provided nearly 3,800 miles of new and improved highway in the last eight years, 3,216 miles of it since V-J Day in August 1945. This figure includes mileage on all types of highway; from Thruway to farm-to-market roads which link rural communities more closely with the major network of State highways. It includes approximately 50 miles of Thruway construction of which about 13 miles have been opened to traffic. By the end of this year with normal operations, this latter figure will be approximately doubled.

ON ACCIDENT RISK

One of the serious hazards to the eyesight of infants, it has been concluded by the Society for the Prevention of Blindness, is smoking. The dangerous smoking is not done by the infants, of course, but by their mothers and fathers. In a study of eye injuries among infant patients at two large hospitals, the society found a sufficient prevalence of cigarette and match burns to cause issuance of a statement warning against the most common perils of that type. Mothers should not smoke while feeding, dressing or otherwise ministering to their children. Fathers should not smoke while holding children over their shoulders. Both should take care to keep lighted cigarettes beyond the reach of infant fingers.

First reaction is shock that such warnings are necessary at all. But this is no more shocking than the need for most other kinds of accident warnings. People are astonishingly careless with their own lives and limbs, as well as with those of the members of their immediate families. There is no type of common accident which does not depend for its frequent occurrence on some carelessness, more often than not on the part of the victim.

It's all very well to say that anyone should know enough not to have a cigarette in both hands when bending over the baby's but the one who says it is very likely to make a flight of steps without looking to make sure that they are clear. There are hundreds of ways to become a unit in a

These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE ROOF OF THE EARTH

Soviet China announces the invasion of the theocracy of Tibet, an isolated country, sparsely settled and devoted to the Lamaistic form of Buddhism. Only Tibet and the Vatican City are owned by religions. Tibet by Buddhism, at the head of which is the Dalai Lama, the Vatican by the Roman Catholic Church, at the head of which is the Bishop of Rome, the Pope.

The possession of Tibet by the Communists, through Soviet Russia or Soviet China, which are identical, would give to this imperialist power a tremendous leverage in Buddhist countries, which include all the nations of the Indo-Chinese world. Already Soviet Russia holds Mongolia and China, two very important Buddhist areas.

Tibet is the highest country in the world, ranging from 12,000 to 24,000 feet toward the clouds. Its height has in the past given it protection against predatory countries, although it has been invaded and conquered. It is surrounded by China and Turkestan, by Kashmir and Ladak, by India, Nepal and Bhutan. Its capital is the holy city of Lhasa.

The Tibetans call their country Bod; Tibet is a Europeanized corruption of the word which means high Bod. It is a cold, hard land, difficult for human life. Out of it flow the great rivers of Asia in terraced down the mountain passes.

The people of Tibet are of Mongolian origin, with racial admixtures as the borders are reached. Their spoken language is close to the Burmese; their written language is derived from Sanskrit. Their literature is wholly religious.

Tibet is probably the only country where Polyandry is practised; that is, a woman marries a family of brothers. The religion is primitive, monastic Buddhism, called Lamism, the monks living in vast monasteries in poverty and chastity. The government of the country is completely in the hands of the Lamas, among whom the greatest is the Dalai Lama, the ecclesiastical head, residing in Lhasa; the Panchen Lama is second in influence and often first in power. He sometimes comes out into the world and engages in politics.

The Dalai Lama is chosen by metempsychosis. According to this Buddhist doctrine, life is eternal; there is no death. The life of a being is in many forms through innumerable ages. The soul of man may move, upon his death, into the body of a higher or a lower being, depending upon his goodness.

This perhaps is as correct a statement of Buddhist natural law (Karma) as any other:

"According to the seed that's sown,
So is the fruit ye reap therefrom.
Deer of good will gather good,
Deer of evil evil reaps."

Sown is the seed, and thou shalt taste
The fruit thereof."

So when the Dalai Lama dies, a quest is made for a male baby born at precisely that moment, for the soul must find a body, whether of man or beast or insect. Once the hierarchy among the Lamas decides that this particular baby is the one, he is taken to Lhasa, becomes the Dalai Lama and for a good part of his life is, in effect, the prisoner of his guardians.

The possession of the Dalai Lama is, therefore, of great importance politically in the Buddhist world, particularly among those Buddhists who adhere to Lamism. Buddhism seeded itself in Tibet in the Eighth Century as part of a social revolution—there was to be no distinction between rich and poor, humble and great. However, at the end of each great reform, the rich were rich and the poor were poor, which surprised the Tibetan sages.

Tibet was conquered by the Mongols under Kublai Khan, and thus China became the Suzerain over Tibet, an authority now claimed by Soviet China. The Ming rulers of China found it more satisfactory to deal with the Tibetan ecclesiastics than with laymen and thus the authority of the Lamas was confirmed by the great power of China.

In the 20th Century, Tibet came within the sphere of influence of British India, which controlled the best paths toward Lhasa. The situation was complicated by Russian intrigue, the Russians, as far back as 1880, seeking a sphere of influence in that country, incidentally indicating to Lhasa that the Czar and his family might be converted to Buddhism!

As Russian imperialism expands into Tibet, the its peculiar nature of the country and Buddhism in its Lamaistic form must be described and grasped. (Copyright, 1950, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

OVERWEIGHT AND NERVOUS TENSION

If an overweight were told that his excess weight put him in the same class as an alcoholic, he would be greatly offended, yet in many cases the same factor, the same underlying cause or disease, is present.

Most of us have the idea that when a person is upset, is undecided about some plans, that this indecision interferes with eating and sleeping. This is true in many cases but usually those cases are underweights. Why, then, should overweights actually overeat when they are upset mentally and emotionally?

Just as one individual turns to alcohol when he is upset, is upset with another individual, under similar circumstances, turns to food and eats not only large meals at regular meal hours but in between meals eats as he tries to "figure out" what should be done under present circumstances. There are other cases where the individual has so much leisure time that he or she turns to food just to put in the time.

It is often noticeable that a man or woman doing active physical work outdoers when brought in to do office or light housework will gradually put on weight because they bring their appetite indoors with them, despite the fact that they can safely get along with 25 per cent less food than when they were working outdoors.

Dr Alfred Joseph, New York city, in Pharmaceutical Advance, states "It is not sufficiently recognized that overeating—like alcohol—presents a common and convenient form of escape in various mental conditions and disturbances. It appears whenever there is lack of interest or distraction, that is, in households who break the daily routine by frequent trips to the refrigerator."

And eating, by taking the blood away from the brain (with its mental and emotional disturbances) has a soothing effect upon nervous tension. Food seems to reinforce all of us, giving us almost a sense of security.

The only suggestion to these overweights who eat food to quiet their nerves is that they eat non-fattening foods when they feel they "must" eat. These foods are vegetables, low in starch—lettuce, celery, spinach, cucumbers and tomatoes.

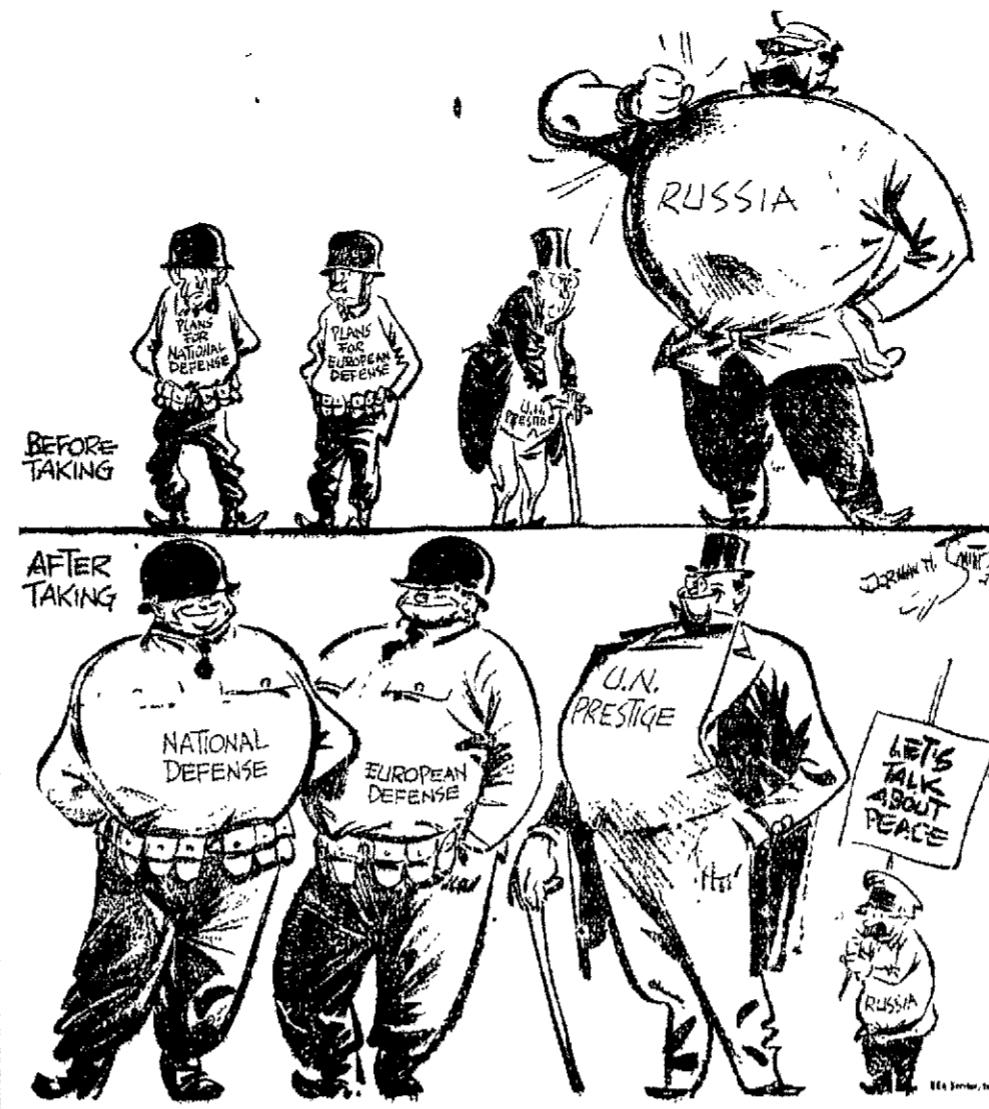

Overweight and Underweight

It has been well said that weight is one of the most accurate measures of one's state of health. The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—At the diplomatic reception following President Truman's address to the U. N. general assembly, Indian delegate Jamshed stepped up to the president and surprised him with an on-the-spot peace proposal.

"Would it not be a good idea," said the Hindu diplomat, "to begin the big five peace talks here and now, Mr. Vishinsky being in the same room with you, sir?"

"I have Secretary Acheson here for the job," replied Mr. Truman, slightly taken aback.

"Quite right, sir," replied delegate Jamshed with a low bow. "But there's an old Indian proverb: 'You can't keep a dog and do your own barking.'

The President did not seem to catch the point, and the Hindu ambassador passed on.

Though what he said was meant in all friendliness, he had unwittingly touched on the fact that there had been a lot of official barking in Washington before the State Department and the White House could reach an agreement as to what the President should say in his U. N. speech about disarmament. Some advisers protested this was no moment to talk of anything but armament. Other advisers agreed that it was necessary to give Europe some hope for peace. The latter "hopeful" group finally won out.

In some hands the declarer's problem is to choose between two plausible lines of play. Perhaps one line will work and the other won't. Careful reasoning will usually lead to the successful method.

In the hand shown today, declarer played the hand by "general direction" instead of thinking it out carefully. The result didn't please him.

West opened the ten of clubs, not suspecting that South had a concealed long suit. Dummy put up the queen. East covered with the king and South won with the ace. Declarer's next step was to finesse the queen of diamonds, leading to East's king.

East realized that his partner had opened a short club suit, so he knew that declarer had two black cards. East, an expert, knew that South couldn't lose the hand if he played it properly. The only possibility was to give South a chance to strike out in the wrong direction. Hence East returned the king of hearts, forcing out dummy's ace.

South noticed that he could get a discard on the ace of diamonds if he went at it promptly. He didn't bother to wonder whether it would do him any good to discard one of his long clubs. He led a diamond from dummy to get his jack out of the way. Then he gave up a club trick to East.

East followed through on his plan by leading the queen of hearts, forcing South to ruff. When South then led a third round of clubs, ruffing in dummy, West hastily got rid of his last heart.

At this point South was dead, although he didn't know it. He proudly discarded a club to the ace of diamonds and tried to get back to the hand by ruffing a heart. West over-ruffed and led back a low diamond. Dummy discarded a heart and East carefully ruffed with his eight, forcing South to over-cuff with the ace. And now if declarer drew West's remaining trumps, dummy would be left with a losing hand; and if he didn't draw trumps, West would win a trick by over-ruffing.

South's line of play would have been sensible enough if his spot-cards in trumps had been headed by the ten or ten-plus. Since he actually held miserably small trumps, it should have been clear to him that a cross-ruff would surely expose him to over-ruffs. Hence he should have concentrated on establishing his long clubs.

For the purpose of this plan it was pure midsummer madness to lead a diamond to the jack after taking the ace of hearts. The correct play was to return dummy's last club at once.

East would win and lead a second round of hearts, making declarer ruff. Now South would ruff a club in dummy, draw two rounds of trumps, and then get

Michigan also are "nip and tuck." Republicans Disagree

Republicans, of course, did not agree with Boyle's estimate of what will happen in the congressional elections.

Republican National Chairman Guy G. Gabrielson, who has been contending that the Republicans have a chance of winning control of both the Senate and House, said in a speech at Portsmouth, N. H., that "I am confident that the people are going to vote for Republican freedom as against Democrat socialism."

Other GOP strategists said they are just as anxious for a big vote as Boyle, who contended that the Democrats will get the support of seven out of 10 of all of whom in excess of 40,000,000 who cast ballots.

High registrations have given some signs that the vote total may run to 42,000,000.

Democrats and Republicans each reported that their campaign spending had mounted past the $1,000,000 mark.

Republicans in a formal report said they had spent more than $1,000,000 this year, as of middate of last week. That was about $71,000 more than they took in.

Boyle said the Democrats spent $1,705,368 in the first nine months of the year and have a balance of $227,272 on hand.

While there was still no indication that price controls on farm products or other items are in prospect anytime soon, officials were expected to urge that Congress broaden present rent control authority.

Returns To Capital

Housing Expediter Tige F. Woods, who administers the Rent Control Law, returned to Washington yesterday after a series of conferences with local rent advisory boards across the country. Aides reported he will ask that Congress eliminate a requirement of the present law that local communities take positive action if they want federal controls continued beyond Dec. 31.

2. Give him authority to reimpose controls over any area or any general class of housing if he finds defense needs warrant it.

Boy Blauth, one of Mr. Truman's economic advisers, hinted yesterday that price controls may have to be imposed to whip a threat of inflation. He said in a speech that nearly all anti-inflation weapons may be needed. In World War 2 these weapons included price controls, wage controls and rationing.

Blauth and Woodie Thomas, economic adviser to the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, told a Department of Agriculture Conference that much higher taxes are necessary to avoid disastrous inflation.

ship was from 1,500 to 2,000 armed men. They added that the Communists could be expected to grab any opportunity to keep things boiling on this island now.

Governor Luis Munoz Marin, target of one attack on the governor's palace in San Juan yesterday, said the rebellion was a "conspiracy against democracy helped by the Communists."

Guard officers described the situation at Jayuya and Utuado as tense. Two companies of militia, armed with machineguns, bayonets and armor, have been rushed to Jayuya, a town of 1,800 which has virtually been burned to the ground by the attacking rebels. It was difficult to estimate the number of casualties there.

Fighting also broke out in the town of Mayaguez, where police headquarters was attacked. A policeman was reported killed in the initial attack which was followed by a battle between Nationalist and police forces in the public park.

The heaviest fighting, however, was at Jayuya between rebels and National Guardsmen ordered to clean out the insurrectionist forces before moving on to Utuado. A Nationalist threw a bomb at the Utuado post office today and was shot dead.

Gen. Luis Esteves of the National Guard flew over the Jayuya fighting area today in one of the fighter plane sweeps.

The area around Alibiz Camps' home in San Juan resembled an armed camp. Police and Guardsmen surrounded the house and were waiting for a warrant before going in to drag out the 63-year-old Nationalist leader. He advocates complete independence from the United States and once served six years in the penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., for insurrection.

Shots fired from the windows of his home had kept police at bay so far.

Boggs, who first came to Woodstock in 1918, with his family lived for a number of years on the farm which was famous in the area as a sheep and cattle farm. Later he studied abroad for a number of years in the south of France.

Plans Are Begun
For 'Fire Police'

Shokan, Oct. 31—William Oberhoudt and his bride, the former Elvina Lewis of Olive Bridge, went to New York City following their wedding in St. John's Church last Sunday. The young couple will make their home at Grahamsville. Billy, a WPA veteran, has been employed on an iron-worker's project for the past seven years. Mrs. Oberhoudt is a daughter of Debra Lewis, town clerk of Olive Bridge.

They are Mr. and John Volland. It spent the weekend at the family summer home in Franklin. But the 1000s only this week include those of Alonso and Wm. J. and Mrs. Burt. Alonso and George are of Albany, and George Van Wagenen, Jr., attended Kingston High and is now in the Navy. He is married to Irene Van Wagenen and is employed at the Dunham lumber mill in Shokan. The former Laura Moe is a native of the mountain town section 6, Ashland. Her childhood farm home having been the present A. Kieft place. She is active in Methodist Church circles. She has four children, Clarence, Francis, and Beverly, Edmund and Doris (Mrs. Kenneth) Davis.

Donald Twine was numbered among the Kingston callers in the hub of the rescue country Saturday.

Dick Morris, well known Brown's baseball player, has in employment with a Kingston roofing concern.

Local leaders who happened to be in Albany Oct. 30, day of the eastern zone meeting of state teachers association says North Pearl Street was alive with educators during the noon hour. The conference attended by 6,000 men and women, was one of 10 to be held in a commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the association which now has 15,000 members.

The turkey dinner held Wednesday night at the Reformed Church by the Ladies Aid Society reportedly was well attended and the net receipts totaled more than $100.

Some chaps have plenty of nerve. One recently listed $38 from the clothing of a Margaretville state trooper while the officer was undergoing his draft physical in Binghamton.

New York city contains more than 5250 miles of streets of which about 3290 miles are paved.

Are you opposed to the tragic blunders of the Democratic national administration which have lost us the peace?

Are you opposed to the Democratic national administration's sell-out to Stalin of Poland, China, Korea, Roumania and Jugoslavia?

Are you opposed to the Democratic party's policies which have expanded and strengthened the Russian empire to the point where Our Government must now draft millions of young Americans into the armed forces; spend billions upon billions of dollars to re-arm ourselves and other nations to prepare for a Russian attack, it if comes?

Are you opposed to increased taxes and lower standard of living that these policies will bring, and the frightful consequences of an atomic war which the blunders of the Democratic administration have made possible?

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

I guess I was one of the 1500 who visited the opening of the new $381,000 vocational school building the other evening. I remember the vocational department, when it was part of the main building on the boys' side of the high school, for I think I was the first girl to take up "shop" or carpentry at night school, also mechanical drawing with Ellsworth E. Mack as instructor some 20 years ago. Still remember well the eleven kinds of the various woods and the fine way he had all his tools arranged on the wall. Mr. Mack was a perfectionist, because of which I was able to turn out two handsome items beautifully polished. I remember how I rubbed the wood with sandpaper and steel wool 'till it looked smooth as silk to me, then Mack would come around and say, "Excellent, young lady, excellent, but just polish it a little more, right here. This would go on for weeks but today I can hardly believe I made those items. Mr. Mack also taught me the use and care of mechanical instruments and the making of drawings. In his class you learned to be patient because you admired the teacher.

Later on tools, architectural drawing in Thomas P. Rice's night class, where we were not only taught drawing, but political science. In fact discussed everything, as most of the men in that class were well read, and I the only girl just listened and drew while they talked. That of course was before radio commentators, a good 20 years ago.

One day I induced Ann Bregman to join the "shop" so I'd have someone to go with from downtown. She is a sister of former Kingston girl attorney, Bessie Bregman. Ann was not only blond and attractive and the second girl in the class but handy with tools. At first the boys smiled when she approached the large electric saws and worked with a hand saw, but it didn't take long before they realized she out classed them in their own male arts. She started building a full size cedar chest and turned it out so perfectly and highly polished that she won first prize against men competitors at the Ulster County Fair, not once, but I think twice. I remember seeing her photo in the local press after Fair Day. She could handle knitting needles even better, by designing and turning out a complete garment in a week or 10 days at the most which not only won her first awards but she was able to sell the designs to national concerns. She never used a tape measure but a 36 inch wooden yard stick and yet her knit wear fit perfectly. By profession she is a competent office worker in New York city.

Also remember cooking classes at night school. In the days when Myron J. Michael was superintendent of schools and allowed me to take the course although I was going to day school. One of those evenings we made lemon pie under the direction of Miss Schnitzler. Two girls worked on one pie, as I was walking along carefully with the pie, my partner touched me on the shoulder, it scared me so that the pie half slipped off the pie plate. I slipped it back to keep it from dropping and we had a lovely turn-over such as Miss Schnitzler never saw. Anyway, I remember her saying something like, "The ingredients are there, it'll taste alright."

Looking back I realize that I liked night school much more than day high school, and I noticed on the visit to the new Vocational School that everyone looked so happy, perhaps they too will someday look back on these evenings as the happiest in their memories.

Will Hang Exhibit Of Currier and Ives At Teachers College

Fulton street's own peculiar brand of Americana, a collection of Currier & Ives prints and postcard prints, will be on exhibit from November 5 to 31 at New Paltz State Teachers College. The large collection, property of the Travelers Insurance Co., has been on circuit in outstanding museums throughout the country since 1945 and contains the original prints used in the company's calendar since 1936.

Both the exhibit and the exhibition are largely responsible for the licensed interest shown in National Currier's lithographs which, since the days when they were first peddled along New York streets in 1835, have appealed to people of almost every class.

Currier, one of the outstanding lithographers of his time, reached the high peak of his productivity in 1866. Few details of the American scene escaped his notice. The growth of cities, the development of railroads, disaster, the Civil War, as well as urban and rural scenes, poured out of Currier & Ives' prolific establishment. Finally their popularity led to prints of the Revolutionary War, and even the struggle of '812.

Among the collection which will be shown this month at New Paltz are original prints which have sold for record prices. Travellers, one of the nation's most avid collectors, have paid as high as $3,000 for a single print. Also included in the exhibit will be their collection of "medium folio prints" which are relatively scarce items even among collectors.

Visitors will be welcome to the show any day from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m. in the prints are being brought to New Paltz by John F. Torante of Highland, Travellers' representative.

Hyde Park Tea Launches Barnard Development Fund

Barnard College alumnae launched the Hudson Valley Area campaign for the Barnard Development Fund Saturday afternoon, when they met at the home of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Hyde Park. Present that afternoon was Dean Millicent Carey McIntosh, who pictured the college as not only a training ground for young women, but also as an intellectual center for older women throughout the metropolitan area. She explained that Barnard's close relationship to Columbia University enabled the college to offer an unusual number of advanced courses in many fields.

During her address to the group, Mrs. Roosevelt stressed our generation's growing need for educated women, a need, she continued, that her work with the United Nations, while detailed information is of secondary importance, has not been substantiated. Other speakers were Mrs. Frank Altschul, national chairman of the Development Fund, who reported on the campaign's progress in other parts of the country, and Miss Jean Palmer, general secretary of the college, and former head of the WAVES, who described Barnard's present financial situation.

The $10,000,000 national drive will be used to increase student scholarships, raise faculty salaries, expand the curriculum, and provide additional physical facilities to augment the present college buildings.

Mrs. Gordon L. Kidd of Hyde Park is chairman of the campaign in the Hudson Valley area.

Old Dutch Church
Scene of Nuptials
For Marilyn Foster

The Old Dutch Church was the scene of the marriage, Saturday noon, of Marilyn Jones Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Foster, to Bernard William Hoyt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley S. Hoyt of Mallory. The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool performed the double ring ceremony.

During the ceremony Minister of Music Donald Romine played traditional wedding selections, and Miss Elizabeth Sherman sang Greig's "I Love Thee," "O Perfect Love," a hymn, and "Calm as the Night," by Carl Bohm.

The church was decorated with palms, and baskets of white chrysanthemums.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white velvet gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves. A cathedral length illusion veil completed her costume. For flowers the bride carried a white orchid with baby pompons and streamers of sweet peas.

Miss Joan Gehringer of Bogota, N. J., cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a burgundy velvet gown with a matching cap, and carried a cascade of yellow chrysanthemums.

Miss Nancy J. Wilson of Westboro, Mass., college classmate of the bride, was maid of honor. She was dressed in a ballerina length pink taffeta gown, with a wide sash of pink satin, and a shirred pink taffeta crown with pink taffeta mitts. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Jeanne Laidlow of 7 Mountain View Avenue, and Miss Nancy E. Halverson of 186 Manor Avenue, were bridesmaids. They wore matching blue taffeta ballerina length gowns with wide sashes of blue satin, and matching shirred taffeta headpieces and mitts. Both carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses.

Lawrence Hoyt of Mallory, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushears were Donald Aylay, of Syracuse, and Edward Bartlett of Elizabeth, N. J.

S.M.U. Has First Place in AP Poll; Princeton, Miami Now in Elite

Ohio State Moves into Fourth Spot

By JOE REICHLER
New York, Oct. 31 (AP)—Southern Methodist's unbeaten Mustangs climbed to their No. 1 rating among the country's college football teams today as Ohio State dropped from sixth to fourth and Miami, Princeton, and Illinois squeezed into the top ten.

The Southwest Conference leader, despite a Saturday of idleness, remained the top choice of a majority of the 280 sports writers and sportscasters who voted in the little weekly Associated Press poll to determine the nation's outstanding team.

The Mustangs (6-0) grabbed 123 first place votes and accumulated 2,371 points to outdistance second place Army which notched 31 first place nominations and 2, 364 points. Although the under-the-radar Owls upset Columbia (3-0), they gained 30 fewer first place votes than last week when they also were second.

Buckeyes Club

Oklahoma retained its third place ranking by trouncing Iowa State for its 26th consecutive victory but fifth place Kentucky
(5-0) and sixth place California (6-0) dropped down a notch to make room for Ohio State. The Buckeyes, shooting for their second straight Big Ten Conference championships, swamped Iowa (3-2).

Ohio State received 30 first place ballots to 25 for Oklahoma, but the Sooners had more seconds and thirds to amass 2,337 points to the Buckeyes' 1,822.

The heaviest voting in the 45 years of the poll also saw Kentucky pick up 17 first place votes;
Miami (2), Clemson (3), California
Princeton, and Wyoming two.

Princeton Moves Up

Biggs' jump was registered by Princeton. The Tigers leaped from nowhere a week ago to ninth by virtue of their surprising 27-0 victory over Cornell. The Big Red, 10th last week, received only one 10th place vote to drop out of the first 20. Northwestern was another to lose prestige, because of its 14-13 defeat by Wisconsin. The Wildcats, ninth last week, didn't make the first 20.

Other appreciable gains were made by Miami (Fla.) and Illinois. The unbeaten Hurricanes climbed from 11th to eighth on the strength of their 28-0 win over Pittsburgh. Illinois, with only a one-point defeat by Wisconsin to ruin an otherwise perfect Bee-game slate, rounded out the top ten. A 20-0 victory over Indiana gained two notches for the Illini.

The top ten teams' figures in brackets indicate first place votes; with first place worth 10 points, second place nine points and so on down the line.

Blaik Blasts Critics Of Army Grid Slate

O'Doul, DiMaggio Head For Orient

New York, Oct. 31 (AP)—Army doesn't go around feeling muscles and looking for soft spots in choosing its football opponents, Coach Earl (Red) Blaik said today in defending the Cadets'

schedule. "I don't think our schedule needs a defense," the West Point taskmaster declared. "Year in and year out we play as tough teams as anybody in the country."

O'Doul will conduct baseball clinics and John Joe will display his world-famous ability at the plate.

O'Doul and DiMaggio said they hoped to get permission to visit American troops in Korea.

PGA Proposes Sweeping Changes in Nationals

Chicago, Oct. 31 (AP)—Proposed sweeping changes in its national meet's method of play, and its overall tournament program will be studied at the 34th annual meeting of the Professional Golfers' Association of America here starting Nov. 11.

The 60 delegates to the six-day session will consider a proposal to set up the PGA tourney for 72 holes of medal play with the low seven finishers and defending champion then battling it out in match play for the title.

This would be a radical depart-ture from the present national meets arrangement of 36 holes of qualifying medal play to send 64 players into a match-play mar-thon.

If approved, the new system would become effective in the 1951 PGA tourney at Pittsburgh's
Oakmont Country Club, June 27-
July 3.

Hairston Upsets Gavilan in Scranton

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 31 (AP)— Gene Hairston, 153, New York won a split upset 10-round decision over Cuba's Kid Gavilan, 150, last night.

For the New Yorker, it was the second major upset in Scranton ring in the last two months. Hairston had beaten Lee Sala, loser only once before meeting the New Yorker here.

Gavilan outboxed Hairston in the initial two rounds last night before a crowd of slightly under 3,000, which paid $6,857.

Referee Johnny Kelly gave Hairston six rounds, awarded two to Gavilan and called two even.
The judges divided, with one seeing it 8-2 in favor of Hairston and the other calling it 6-3 with Gavilan on top.

"Then there are teams like Columbia we have been playing for years. They are up and down, naturally, but the Columbia we beat Saturday could have beaten
a lot of good teams."

"No, sir, we don't need to pologize to anybody on our schedule."

GREEN GOLD—Numerous college teams are resting their destinies upon the shoulders of sophomores. The passing of Purdue quarterback Blanchard, Quarterback Ted Marchibreda, top center, leads and pitches for St. Bonaventure. Mitchell Price, below, does the same thing for Columbia. California's Johnny Olszewski is one of the more vicious wall-cracking fullbacks on the Pacific coast. Holy Cross quarterback Charlie Maloy, right, is touted as the east's best chucker since Sid Luckman.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

"You'll go for anything that has a Yankee tag on it, won't you?" the man at the filling station queried somewhat derisively.

"Yep," we drawled in our best Flatbush drawl.

We were heading south toward New York for the New York Yankee-Chicago Bear football brawl at Yankee Stadium. Paul Jonas Freer, sports statistician and man-about-town, was the other guy in the car.

"Yep," we continued, "we're going to Yankee Stadium where all the power unfolds. They'll be scoring touchdowns all over the place. Same old difference between the American and National League, you know."

"Why didn't you go down last week and take in that 'big league' game between the Giants and Browns?" P. J. Reichler asked.

"We did," we replied, "and we were bored stiff. Stew Steve Owen is a master of defense, but don't those guys ever score a touchdown? The Yanks will pick up a bushel of TD's today. (They scored five to whip the Bears, 38-27 in a razzle-dazzle ball game.)

Old P.J., a constructive critic down through the years, is the one of all local sports writers, you know) wouldn't let us off the hook without one parting blast.

"Listen, bub, I see where you referred to Matty Deegan as a second baseman in that writeup about the old timers banquet. Don't you know he was a shortstop and a good one?"

"You're probably right, Joe, but we're only 62, going on 63, so we couldn't recall that far back. We stand corrected, thank you."

P.J. said "thank you" too, after we paid him for the gas.

"Just think," P. J. Freer dreamt with eyes wide open, "here I am sitting in the press box at Yankee Stadium. I never thought this would ever happen to me!"

Fletsam and Jetsam:

Judge John M. Cashel survived several threatened retirements en route to a 13-hole victory over J. Richard Miller and the sports ed. in a recent golf foursome with Bud Culloton. If all of the judge's threatened retirements were laid end to end, they'd reach around the world and still have space left for another nine-holer. Almost overlooked in the happenings of the past bowling week was a new all-time high league solo for Lou Bagone, 201, a figure, incidentally, which is considerably under his best fighting weight. The Carl Stroble of 1950 and the Jimmy Cullum of 1932-33 are uncanny doubles, their manliness, carriage and everything else being almost identical. If you remember Jase on that 1933 powerhouse, you can't help thinking of him when you see young Stroble moving around the gridiron. Not in the past 24 years has a K.H.S. bowler murdered the opposition like Bill Burke's current edition. Not even the Neanderthal monsters like Bush Levy, Zip Zaccaro, Tony Debrusky et al of the 1933 machine.

Signs of the times: With a wet ball on his 44, Dale Samuels thrice threw the same pass to Mike Macciolli before completing the fourth-period forward that clinched Purdue's upset of Notre Dame. The tailback barely missed the first two.

Asked why he didn't catch one of them, Macciolli cracked: "I wanted to give the TV cameramen time to focus."

Splits and Misses:

Clarence Rowland, who sponsors five teams in the V. Mercantile League, has moved into the front ranks of the men who make organized bowling possible. If any of the local sharpies really want serious action, contact Lee Braymiller at New Hamburg. Braymiller has challenged any bowler in the country, except Joe Norris, for a match up to $10,000. About this time each year we try to impress on the bowlers the necessity of bonding league treasurers and each year some league fails to heed the warning and at the end of the season they are sorry. There is nothing worse than to have a league arrange for its season-end banquet and prize distribution and then find that the money they have been putting in the kitty each week has disappeared. The American Bowling Congress furnishes free bonding service to all same-timed leagues.

With Jimmy Dylcs around, the A's may still lose—but they'll lose laughing.

Miami—Reuben Jones, 170½, New York, outpointed Billy Brown, 165, Jacksonville, Fla.

Sydney, Australia—Joey Brown, 139, New Orleans, knocked out Charley Williams, 145, Newark (10).
